ADAM GRIER APPOINTED SOUTHEAST REGIONAL SALES MANAGER FOR AMERICAN KUHNE AND WELEX BRANDS; ALAN JONES'S TERRITORY EXPANDS TO INCLUDE WESTERN REGION

Bob Deitrick, vice president of global sales for Graham Engineering Corporation has appointed Adam Grier to be regional sales manager for Extrusion in the southeast. Graham Engineering Corporation's Extrusion business comprises Welex sheet lines and American Kuhne extruders and extrusion systems.

Mr. Grier's responsibilities includes the states of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Tennessee, and Mississippi.

"Adam brings both technical and sales experience in wire, cable, pipe, and medical device systems and manufacturing," said Deitrick. "A native of the Chattanooga area and living in the region, he will serve as a knowledgeable and capable source of sales, service and support for our customers."

Adam Grier joins the group from Zumbach Electronics where he was regional sales manager. He also previously served as a quality technician for medical device manufacturer Accellent and as a purchasing agent.

He holds a BSc. degree in business management: entrepreneurship from the University of Tennessee Chattanooga.

Additionally, Mr. Deitrick has expanded southwest regional sales manager Alan Jones's role to encompass the western region. This expanded territory includes the states of Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah, Idaho, Washington, Oregon, Nevada, and California, as well as the western Canadian provinces. Mr. Jones joined Graham Engineering Corporation in February 2015.
